Research Policy Bankura Christian College

Introduction: Bankura Christian College, West Bengal, fosters a research environment by encouraging both fundamental and applied research. The management is committed to fostering research and development activities by providing financial support and encouraging faculty to seek external funding agencies. The policy encourages the establishment of a research ecosystem that includes the institute's personnel, research scholars, undergraduate and graduate students, and research collaborators.

Objective: The objective of this policy is to establish a conducive and edifying environment for research among faculty, students, and researchers at the college.

Scope: This policy has the potential to improve the research in all fields of the college by being implemented in all departments.

Objectives and Goals: The policy's specific objectives are as follows:

- To promote research in emerging areas of science, humanities, and social science
- To encourage faculty to apply for grants from government and non-government funding agencies
- Research publications in reputable national and international journals with an impact factor.
- Enhancement of the institute's knowledge, competencies, and appreciation at the national and international levels through MoUs and Collaborations.
- Conducting national and international workshops, seminars, and trainings to improve capability building and research and development competencies.

Study Leave: The study leave may be granted for the purpose of participating and presenting research papers at conferences, field visits, industrial visits, research laboratories, and libraries, as well as for reference work. These leaves are granted to employees in accordance with the policies of the affiliating university and the office of the Joint Director or Department of Higher Education, West Bengal.

Financial Assistance: Teachers are granted financial assistance once in a academic year for the registration fees associated with international seminars and awards, as well as for publication in Scopus/Web of Science indexed journals.

Publication of UGC CARE enlisted Journal: The college annually publishes a UGC CARE enlisted journal, "Wesleyan Journal of Research."
